

European Migration Network Conference:
SUSTAINABLE MIGRATION IN EUROPE

INVITATION

13 DECEMBER 2018 – BRUSSELS

With migration policy in flux, and public trust in government migration policies being challenged around the world, the aim of this conference is to present and debate sustainable migration in Europe, which can help guide and inform governments and elected politicians. The conference will showcase the results of a highly productive collaboration between the European Migration Network National Contact Point for Norway and Professors Paul Collier and Alexander Betts from the University of Oxford.

We are very pleased to confirm the following speakers for the day:

Prof Paul Collier and Prof Alexander Betts

Professors Collier and Betts from the University of Oxford will present their 2018 paper:
Sustainable Migration in Europe

Magnus Ovilius

Head of Return Sector, Irregular Migration, DG Migration and Home Affairs and EMN Chair
Magnus Ovilius will present a paper on the Challenges and relevance for the EU

Professor Grete Brochmann and Research Professor Anne Skevik Grødem

Professors from the University of Oslo and Oslo Institute for Social Research respectively will talk about
Absorption Capacity as Means for Assessing Sustainable Immigration

Dr. Asle Toje (PhD)

Roving Political Scientist and Member of the Norwegian Nobel Committee will talk about
The Significance of Culture in Assessing Sustainable Immigration

Registration for this important conference is now open, and we cordially invite you to register. Places are limited and we encourage you to book early please, and by 1 December 2018 at the latest.

To see the programme, reserve your place for the conference, and for all logistical information, please click on the 'Programme and Registration' link below.

If you have any questions, please contact the Norwegian EMN contact point at ssh@udi.no

We look forward to welcoming you on 13 December 2018.

Programme and Registration here

Date and time: 13 December 2018, 11.30 - 16.30

Venue: Norway House, Rue Archimède 17, Brussels

Conference language: English